Connected Smith System

The Connected Smith System delivers the ultimate training flexibility. It seamlessly links the Smith bar to the built-in weight stack, letting you harness the stack's resistance directly—while still allowing for traditional weight plate loading on the bar. With this innovative setup, you can train entirely with the weight stack, load it up with plates, or combine both for a fully customized workout experience.

KEY FEATURES

CONNECTED SYSTEM WITH WEIGHT STACK

The smith bar can be connected to the weight stack system for quick change of weights. Thus this machine can be used without any additional weight plates.

COUNTERBALANCED SMITH BAR

Using the connected system, the weight stack can be used to counter balance the weight of the smith bar to make it lighter. This feature is good for user who are unable to lift even the empty bar weight.

UNIQUE INTERCHANGEABLE CABLE SYSTEM

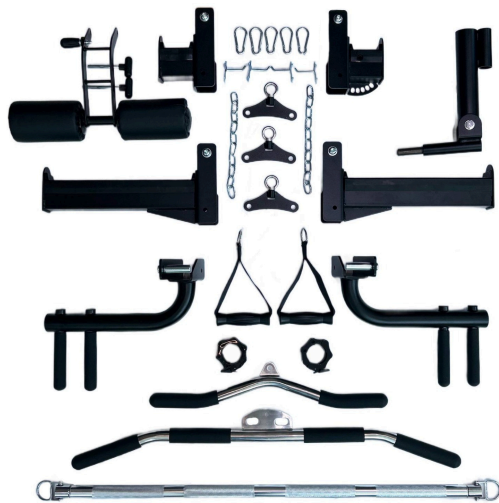

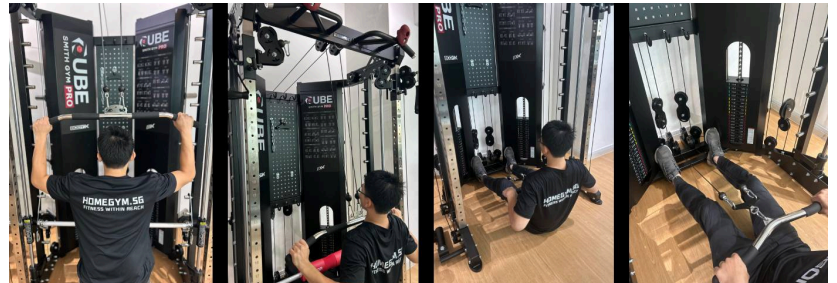

The Cube Smith Pro All-In-One Trainer has a interchangeable cable system that allows you to easily select your cable ratio on the fly.

By engaging the 2:1 ratio you can turn your 90kg weight stack into 45kg of resistance and instantly swap it back to a 1:1 ratio - 90kg of resistance.

ADDITIONAL LAT PULL AND LOW ROW CABLES

Easily perform lat pulldown and low row with the centralize cables.
