Interactive Cycling Sessions Inside Your Home

"I'm going to increase your resistance for this hill climb."

LIVE Interactive Training

Follow along with our personal trainers as they lead your workout and help you get results. With iFit's LIVE Resistance Control technology, your trainer takes control of the resistance on your bike to realistically match the terrain of your workout. When your trainer goes up a hill, you'll feel the burn.

"Get your weights and step off your bike for some cross-training."

Cross-Train with the Included Hand Weights

This bike isn't only about toning your legs. Two 3-pound dumbbells are included with the Studio Pro so you can follow your trainer on and off your bike in cross-training workouts that will pump your upper body as well as your legs.

Silence Never Sounded So Good

Experience a smooth, frictionless, and silent ride with our patented SMR™ Silent Magnetic Resistance, which allows you to adjust your training intensity without interrupting your workout or anyone around you.

Built to Last and to Go Fast

Engineered and produced with commercial-grade welded steel and enhanced corrosion resistance, the ProForm Studio Bike Pro lets you work out as hard as you want without losing any feeling of stability.

Roll with Ease

The Studio Pro is designed to quickly get you moving, but it was also designed to easily be moved. Whether you're tight on space in an apartment, or just like to move things around a bit, the front-mounted transport wheels make it easy to reposition your equipment if it's not in the right location or move it completely out of the way when you're finished with your workout.

The Perfect View — Both on and off the Bike

Interactive training means getting more than just a cycling experience. Now you can follow your trainer through cross-training workouts both on and off your bike. The Studio Pro features a pivoting screen with SmartSwivel™ Design so you can turn the screen 180° in either direction, as well as tilt up or down, allowing you to be able to follow your trainer from any angle.
